A LITTLE ABOUT ME

I am an outdoorsy kind of person. Over the course of the last few years, I have cycled across Corsica, Turkey, Sweden, Ukraine, and from Budapest to Bristol, all over the course of various trips that I've taken.

I love to travel, and I take a keen interest in foreign cultures and cuisines; I love learning foreign languages, listening to world music, and cooking exotic food in my spare time.

Woodwork and metalwork have long been hobbies of mine; I've built myself various pieces of wooden furniture and art, and I've made myself a few gongs and tongue drums from metal waste that I've salvaged.

CODING EXPERIENCE AND PROJECTS

Random Access Radio - bit.ly/randomaccessradio
Sass, Javascript, GulpJS

This project uses Javascript to access a radio API, and will return results based on the user's search term.

The app will then randomly select a radio station which matches the search term, and will play it for the user.

Recipe-finding App - bit.ly/hcrecipe
Sass, PHP, MySQL, GulpJS

This group project was my first OOP project, using PHP to send ingredients to an API, which returns a series of recipes which match the ingredients.

I was involved largely with the backend of this app, with a lot of my work focussing on sending and receiving data, along with manipulating the data into the desired formats.

My main responsibilities involved providing support to volunteers in the form of legal information they can use, engaging in local fundraising, reporting to the regional manager, and liaising with other charities in the area.

Volunteer Mediator at Bristol Mediation/ ResolveWest
July 2018 - May 2019

As a qualified and practising Member of the Society of Mediators, I started volunteer work with Bristol Mediation/ResolveWest.

This voluntary role was rooted in being a self-motivated and engaged worker, who was happy to take jobs as they were posted. I enjoyed this role, as it allowed me to explore my problem solving abilities outside of the rigid structure of the legal world. This allowed me to help my clients reach solutions without going through the stressful court process.
